

From: robin bakay <xxxxxxx@me.com>
Date: August 22, 2015 at 2:59:46 PM EDT
To: Rachel Cericola <xxxxxxxxxxxxx@gmail.com>
Subject: Paul Blart review

I read your Paul Blart review. Sorry you didn't like it. Knowing nothing about you, I'm not sure it was written for you. Are you a pre-teen? Are you a teen on a date? Are you a parent of a kid who has to sit through the movie? Aside from being a freelance reviewer of many things not film according to my research are you a Kevin James fan? A Nick Bakay fan? I've racked my brains trying to come up with one single reason a grown woman would have to shit on a kid's film?

Paul Blart cost $25m to make and garnered $183m at the box office. Paul Blart II cost $30m and as of today is at $107m. That's cockadoodle profit.

You are a bane to the existence of the creative writers. And evidently you have no clue what kind of politics it takes to get a film made in Hollywood. That you were allowed to review the BluRay DVD rather than an actual film pretty much says it all.

Good luck Rachel.
Keep on hating.